

REBELS WILL NOT JOIN WITH HUERTA FORCES

GENERAL FRANCISCO VILLA, HEAD OF THE REBEL MILITARY FORCES WILL DECLINE TO BE DRAGGED INTO WAR WITH THE UNITED STATES BY ANYBODY

Villa Informs Special Agent Carothers that He Was Not Consulted In the Drafting of the Carranza Note Sent to Secretary Bryan—Desires to Show American People His Attitude Is Friendly—Carranza's Confidential Agent Declares His Chief Wants Peace and that Note Is Not Hostile—May Be Scheme to Delay U. S. Action.

BULLETIN.
Brownsville, Tex., April 23.—General Zaragoza, federal commander at Tampico, Mexico, has been given twenty-four hours to surrender by General Luis Caballero, commanding the constitutionalist forces which have been besieging the city according to a message given out at constitutionalist headquarters at Matamoros tonight. This was considered here as disposing of the report that Carranza had united to oppose the Americans.

EL PASO, Texas, April 23.—General Francisco Villa head of the rebel military forces informed George C. Carothers, special agent of the state department that he will decline to be dragged into a war with the United States by anybody.

"Why," he smiled, as he threw an arm about the broad shoulders of the government representative, "all Europe would laugh at us if we went to war with you. They would say that 'little drunkard Huerta has drawn them into a tangle at last.'"

Villa said that he was not consulted in the drafting of the Carranza note transmitted to Secretary Bryan last night and which was regarded as somewhat hostile in tone.

The rebel leader told Carothers, who reported the interview to the state department tonight that one of the chief reasons he came to Juarez was to show the American people that his attitude was friendly and that he did not fear to trust himself on the border without a military escort behind him.

Talk Over Situation.
Carothers took supper with Villa and canvassed the situation thoroughly.

"Honest," said the rebel general between mouthfuls, "I hope the Americans bottle up Vera Cruz so tight that they can't ever get water into it. Your admiral is doing something it would have taken us a long time to accomplish if we could have accomplished it at all."

The general brought with him a hundred woven rugs of the softest lamb wool as a present for General Scott who recently left Fort Bliss to become assistant chief of staff at Washington.

Carothers promised to forward it along with Villa's congratulations on his promotion.

Villa said he had arranged with all foreigners, except Spaniards to ship out their cotton from Torreon upon paying a war tax to which the Spaniards agreed. He said Spanish cotton was not included in the arrangement having been confiscated.

There are 75,000 bales there valued at $450,000.

Robert V. Pesqueira, Carranza's confidential agent here insisted today the note of his chief to Secretary Bryan was not a hostile but was intended as a basis for further negotiations. He was expecting a reply from Mr. Bryan setting forth the views of the state department.

The rebel position is that the American troops should be withdrawn from Mexican soil, Carranza recognized as de facto president or at least as a belligerent and the punishment of the individual Huerta and other individual offenders left to the rebels.

Carranza, if recognized, would not hesitate to apologize and disavow the acts of one whom he considers a traitor.

"I think his statement was fair and frank," said Pesqueira, "and by no means a threat of war."

government that Carranza had refused a number of offers from federal garrisons to join him if he would take the field against the United States.

"To all of these offers, we have returned negative replies," said Pesqueira. "We cannot join forces with Huerta for any purpose."

While this city was in a ferment of war talk and military preparations today the Mexican city of Juarez across the river pursued the even tenor of its uneventful way and even the arrival of General Villa from Torreon failed to excite the villagers.

In El Paso, H. C. Miles, British consul, carrying out the orders of his government warned British citizens to get out of Mexico. The battalion of infantry which has been guarding the city was reinforced from the post by another battalion of the twentieth, a squadron of the sixth cavalry, battery C, of the sixth artillery and a machine gun platoon. Colonel Hatfield established headquarters in the city hall on the roof of which a military wireless tower was erected and telephone wires were strung by the signal corps to enable him to communicate promptly and confidently with his subordinates in the field.

Americans Buy Weapons.
Tonight the black muzzles of field guns, parked in the camp of the reinforcements in the Texas and Pacific railroad reservation in East El Paso are ready to pour their shells into a foreign foe should one appear. At the hardware and gun stores today purchasers of weapons stood in line as if waiting at a box office for tickets at some popular show. They were Americans, for the edict went forth that none would be sold to Mexicans without a permit of Sheriff Edwards. In Juarez, the saloons and gambling halls are closed and few persons were in the streets.

Early in the day El Paso was excited by reports that four troop trains and a train of ammunition and horses was on its way from Chihuahua to Juarez under General Tobo Orozco. It had much to do with the transfer of more soldiers from Fort Bliss to this city but the truth of the story was generally denied in a way that carried conviction.

General Villa received reports tonight and made guarded replies to a number of questions.

Asked if foreigners would be protected should the rebels be brought into war against the United States, he replied:

"Our forces, in an event which I hope will not come about, would take the opportunity of proving to the world that we are a civilized people capable of following all rules of civilized warfare. I would give perfect guarantees to all neutral foreigners and am willing to vouch for this personally."

When asked whether he would join forces with Huerta in war against the United States, he said:

"As I have already stated, such an event is improbable; but to answer your question, I must state that I am a soldier and am ready to follow all orders of my chief, General Carranza."

General Villa when asked to express an opinion on General Carranza's note to President Wilson, replied:

"It was written with the brain of a Saxon and the soul of a Latin." He would not make any statement as to his opinion regarding President Wilson's message yesterday to General Carranza, beyond the following:

"I am a soldier and not a diplomat and in that capacity it would be improper for me even to comment on that matter."

INFANTRY TROOPS ORDERED FROM GALVESTON, TEXAS, TO VERA CRUZ

Four Transports Are Ready to Convey Fifth Brigade of Infantry and Artillery to Supplement the Naval Forces in Mexico

GALVESTON, Texas, April 23.—Rush orders to embark for Vera Cruz immediately the Fifth brigade of infantry under command of Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston and as much artillery and cavalry as available in the second division of the army were received from Washington tonight.

The orders were to take necessary ammunition and other supplies for at least thirty days. The four transports, Meado, McClellan, Sumner and Kilpatrick loaded and waiting to go already carry supplies for 4,500 men for at least sixty days. The orders impress the fact that infantry and artillery must arrive at Vera Cruz at the earliest possible moment. In addition to the four army transports already here, a commercial steamer will be chartered to convey the troops. Three torpedo boat destroyers, the Preston, Reed and Flusser, are available here to act as convoys to the transports.

With the exception of a blanket and a "dog tent" for each soldier the baggage and equipment of the brigade already is aboard the transports.

The supplies loaded today included 18,000 pounds of medicine and drugs.

Private advices here during the day contained no mention of the reported gathering of rioters in Mexico City.

No cavalry will go aboard the four transports which leave tomorrow according to tonight's plans at division headquarters. This is because of lack of accommodations and the fact that loading the cavalry probably would delay the movement of the militia and artillery. It was planned tonight to put aboard only one battery of artillery.

man, 1702 Pleasant street, Burlington, Ia., next of kin, father, Vincent Walter, same address.

R. O. JANS, seaman, 907 Iowa avenue, Muscatine, Iowa, next kin, mother, Hanna Jans, same address.

TROOPS TO VERA CRUZ; EMBARGO IS RESTORED; MORE TROOPS TO BORDER

RESTORATION OF EMBARGO ON ARMS RESULT CARRANZA NOTE

Chance that Federal Commander General Maas Might Make Return Attack on City of Vera Cruz and Possible Forward Movement Toward Mexico City by U. S. Troops Are Reasons for Military Movement.

BULLETIN.
Washington, April 23.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge, left Mexico City for Vera Cruz tonight on a special train escorted by General Huerta's chief of staff.

BULLETIN.
El Paso, April 23.—As a precaution against disorder all traffic into Juarez was stopped by rebel authorities tonight. Even street cars were prohibited from crossing. The town was very quiet.

BULLETIN.
Washington, April 23.—Admiral Fletcher late tonight informed the navy department of the arrival of the refugee train from Mexico City at Vera Cruz with fifty English, 150 Americans, 300 Mexicans and 75 Germans. The first secretary of the British legation at Mexico City the despatch stated, accompanied the train and will return with it to Mexico City tomorrow. The refugees reported the situation in Mexico City as not unduly alarming as regards the safety of foreigners.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—United States troops moved tonight to re-enforce the American navy at Vera Cruz; the embargo on arms into Mexico was formally restored, and troops were ordered to the Mexican border primarily to relieve uneasiness among border residents but also as a precaution against hostile military operations along the international line. Secretary Garrison announced that a brigade of infantry and some artillery under Brigadier General Frederick Funston had been ordered to embark on the four army transports at Galveston for Vera Cruz to support the expeditionary forces of marines and blue-jackets there. The chance that General Maas, the federal general might make a return attack on Vera Cruz with reinforcements and the possible necessity of a forward movement toward Mexico City to protect fleeing Americans and the Vera Cruz railroad were the underlying reasons for the military movement.

Embargo Officially Restored.
The restoration of the embargo on arms was officially announced after the pronouncement of General Carranza, the constitutionalist chief, that he regarded the seizure of Vera Cruz as a violation of Mexican sovereignty, had been considered by the administration. While Mexican constitutionalists here protested that the Carranza's attitude was friendly, the American government decided to take no chances and abruptly stopped the shipment of all arms into Mexico.

President Wilson earlier in the day had issued a statement warning General Carranza, the constitutionalist chief, that the United States was dealing now and would continue to deal with those whom Huerta commands "and those who come to his support."

Both Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, and Senator Alagar, the charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy, have been given their passports. This is not regarded by the Washington government as promising war, but a declaration of war by Huerta would not be unexpected. The United States has chosen Brazil to look after its interests in Mexico. Where there are no Brazilian consuls, French consuls will act for the United States. During the day a special reserve fleet ranging from dreadnaughts to tiny subboats was ordered to the Atlantic coast of Mexico.

No fighting of any consequence was reported from Vera Cruz the American land forces pushed their way three miles inland to some important breast-works to make their position secure.

Hundreds of Refugees.
Rear-Admiral Fletcher and American Consul Canada were occupied most of the day in Vera Cruz in handling hundreds of American refugees. British and German vessels took off more than 1,200 refugees at Tampico and a general exodus of Americans from Mexican cities was reported. The senate in the meantime passed the house bill appropriating $500,000 to take care of American refugees.

Senator Borah declared in the debate that a condition of actual war existed between the United States and Mexico. Senators Lodge and Weeks urged that the embargo be replaced along the entire border. Rear-Admiral Badger requested permission to capture all Mexican gunboats and vessels carrying troops or ammunition for the aid of the Mexicans around Vera Cruz.

These were the outstanding developments which came in dramatic sequence throughout a day of extreme tension. The national capital was nervous with excitement while the diplomatic relations of the Huerta government and the United States were being finally severed and the army and navy continued to put themselves on a war basis.

Revelation of the purpose of Carranza and Huerta are being awaited before a complete military campaign is developed. The United States intends to take no offensive steps, for the present, preferring to hold Vera Cruz until the situation in Mexico City and elsewhere in the southern republic crystallizes.

Held Frequent Conferences.

There were frequent conferences between President Wilson and Secretaries Bryan, Garrison, Daniels, McAdoo and Lane during the day.

Tonight Secretary McAdoo and the other secretaries were at the white house discussing formal orders to customs officials to hold up shipments of arms which eventuated later in a formal announcement of the embargo. Also it was believed the subject of financing the military operations was carefully considered. It was another day of activity at the white house, state, war and navy building with many tense moments such as have not been experienced since the Spanish-American war. The attitude of General Carranza as explained in his note showing that he regarded the invasion of Vera Cruz as a violation of Mexican sovereignty, was the first development which threw official Washington into a feverish expectation of sensational developments. The possibility that the great body of constitutionalist forces might take an offensive stand in the situation was everywhere understood.

President Wilson and his cabinet officers studied Carranza's note and within a few hours a statement was issued by the president reiterating the purpose of the American government as friendly to the Mexican people but emphasizing that as Huerta controlled the region where the offenses were committed, the Washington government must enforce its rightful demands upon those whom the existing authorities at the place where we act, for the time being.

The news that the charge, O'Shaughnessy, had been handed his passports had come in the early hours of the morning and was not fully discussed until an informal cabinet council held at the white house later. Secretary Bryan said the Brazilian government if it would act for the United States in Mexico and after a conference with Ambassador deGama announced that complete arrangements had been made.

The choice of Brazil instead of a European power was regarded as very significant. Not only has Brazil, like Argentina and Chile, refused to recognize the Huerta government but the fact that the United States considered as its friend in a crisis a South American nation, emphasized Pan-American solidarity. It was the first time a South American country has been asked to act in such a capacity by the United States. When the war with Spain was declared France represented American in Spain. In the present crisis France stood ready to give similar service and the United States took advantage of that readiness with a request that American consulates be taken over at all points where Brazil did not have consuls, to which France complied.

Will Leave for Canada.
Charge Alagar asked for his passports only a few hours after the news reached Washington that Charge O'Shaughnessy had reached his safe conduct. Alagar has for several days expected to leave here and made his preparations to leave tonight for Canada. It was recalled that the Spanish minister to the United States went to Montreal when war was declared. It was announced that affairs of the embassy had been entrusted to the French ambassador.

SAW ACTIVE SERVICE IN WAR WITH MEXICO

CAPTAIN JOHN KING RECALLS
CONFLICT OF EARLIER YEARS.

Predicts That Imminent Conflict Will Not Be Won Without Long Strife.
—Mexicans Have Learned to Fight
—Vera Cruz, Tampico and Mexico
City Historic Ground for Him—
Ran Away to Enlist.

Captain John King, who with a few thousand other soldiers fought and won the war with Mexico in 1846-8, said yesterday that the war with Mexico which now seems imminent will not be so easily won. Captain King is now nearly 87 years of age and while he is physically unfit for war service he nevertheless takes a keen interest in the present situation and tells with marvelous accuracy of the war with Mexico 60 years ago. He saw service to the end of the rebellion.

At the home of his sister, Mrs. Lucy Mason, 208 Chambers street, Captain King yesterday talked of that other conflict and the one which he thinks is to come. "It took but 10, 000 troops under General Scott to put the final touches to the Conquest of Mexico 60 years ago, but the task which faces the United States now is much greater and we'll find before the victory is won just how vast an undertaking it is."

Great Army Needed.

"I believe that it will take 100 detachments as great as that commanded by Gen. Scott before the end is reached. Since my day they have learned how to fight in Mexico and they have some good generals too in addition to equipment that was not at their disposal in the former conflict. My observation is that Gen.
Villa is a resourceful officer and that in the conflict he will prove his knowledge of army maneuvers. No one can doubt his bravery and patriotism. I have paid less attention to the career of Gen. Carranza, but my estimate of him is that he is brave and patriotic, though possibly not the equal of Gen. Villa in real knowledge of warfare. Huerta has shown himself to be wholly unprincipled and undoubtedly has directed his course with the hope and expectation of getting into warfare with the United States. I look not upon him so much as a general as a scheming politician who hails at nothing to achieve the end he has in view."

For Capt. King the papers now with their detailed story of Mexican maneuvers and affairs for he is familiar with all the ports and cities which Americans are now struggling to pronounce. He was at Vera Cruz and at Tampico, and took part in the siege when Mexico City fell. So for him Mexico is historic ground and despite his advanced years the whole scene of the early Mexican war seems to come to his mind as if the historic happenings were but yesterday.

Enlisted in 1846.

Capt. King enlisted at Springfield, June 9th, 1846, with Company D of the 4th Ill. Regiment, Col. E. D. Baker commanding. He was living at the time with his father, David King, the farm home being on the north fork of Lick Creek, south of New Berlin, in Sangamon county. He was nearly 19 years of age when he ran away from home to enlist under Captain Achilles Morris whose home had been near Waverly. The Company was made up almost wholly of Sangamon county men. When young King had been three days in camp he was surprised to receive a visit from his father. The father had come to Springfield accompanied by young King's aunt, Eliza, and while the father was journeying to the camp the aunt went to the home of Mrs. Lincoln for a few hours' visit. When the elder King reached the camp he found that Col. Baker was in Springfield proper and he obtained permission from the commanding officer to take young King with him and go in search of the Colonel.

At the Lincoln Home.

As father and son stopped in front of the Lincoln home Mrs. Lincoln and young King's aunt Eliza stood at the door and they accosted him with "Well, you're a nice young fellow to be with the rowdy volunteers." With that they invited the father and son in but young King declined to go replying that if the ladies thought the volunteers were rowdies that it was no place for him. So he and his father resumed their search for Col. Baker and soon found him.

Telling of this incident Capt. King said: "My father told Col. Baker that he had come to take me home. The Colonel asked me if I wanted to go and I replied, 'Well, it will be easy enough to take me home, but it will be pretty hard to keep me there as I have made up my mind to go to Mexico.' Then I argued with my father that since I was going to Mexico that it would be much better for me to go in a company made up of my friends and neighbors rather than for him to insist on my going home and then having me run away and enlist with some other company. It was finally agreed that I should accompany my father home and that later I should join the company as the men marched from camp on the way to Alton and the Jefferson barracks. Within a few days we received notice that the company was to move and my father hitched up to our one wagon and took me to the point where I expected to join the company. We found however that the soldiers had passed and noticing a broad wagon coming in the distance I told my father that I would ride on it and would certainly get to camp that night. I remember as if it were yesterday that he said to me in parting, 'My son, you are going to war and I don't know when I shall see you again, remember that honesty is the best policy and don't be shot in the back.'

Sail to New Orleans.

"I found the camp that night and we marched on to Alton and there took a boat to Jefferson barracks. A few days later we took passage for New Orleans but it was not before Col. Baker had described to me how rough my work would be as a soldier and some of the hardships and wanted to know if I didn't feel like returning home. At various later times too he tried to make it easy for me to withdraw from the service and it was very evident to me that he was keeping faith with my father in an effort to get me to give up the war.
After reaching New Orleans our troops were conveyed by river and we went into camp below Matamoros.
Col. Foreman of the 3rd Ill. Vol. was with us at the time. We were destined to do duty as a part of Gen.
Scott's line. While we were in camp a steamer from Comago came into port and some of our soldiers enlisted from Georgia, went aboard and returned."

"Our company was encamped near by and were detailed on board to quell the riot. I remember well that I was stationed where the pilot house was in plain view and was directed to shoot to kill and one who sought to enter the pilot house and to move the vessel. In this throat Col. Baker was stabbed in the leg and with a bayonet and this act so enraged our company that the multitude were soon overpowered. Within a few days the regiment was moving to Comago. During the very time that the 1st and 2nd Illinois Regiments under Col. Hardin and
Col. Bissell were fighting the battle
Buena Vista. After Gen. Taylor's victory there we marched to Victoria on our way to joint Scott's line.
Victoria is about 100 miles distance from Tampico.

"It was there Col. Baker told me he was going to Washington on business for the regiment and that he would take me with him as orderly but I told him that I was not going home. While we were in camp there some of the regular troops that had been under Taylor were ordered to join Scott's line and Capt. Allen, Division Quartermaster for Gen.
Davis E. Triggs camped close by.
Capt. Allen's agent was a close friend of my captain and it was by this means that I became a clerk in the quartermaster's department. The troops marched to Tampico and there shipped for Vera Cruz. Ordinarily this journey takes two days for a sailing vessel under fair winds but the schooner on which we were embarked occupied nearly all of the month of March in making the trip.

"One storm I remember particularly because the lookout barely had time after giving the warning of 'breakers ahead' to sheer off and save the ship from sinking. We finally anchored off San Elzaria, which is six miles from Vera Cruz and managed to get there but during a storm which followed shortly afterwards, 36 vessels were driven ashore and ours was one of them. During the night of March 15th our vessel was seeking to make the trip from Tampico to Vera Cruz, it had fallen so that I did not get to take part in that conflict.

Camped Near Vera Cruz.

"We went into camp near Tuzpan, not far from Vera Cruz and soon afterward the army commenced a movement towards the city of Mexico and encamped the ground near the Plano del Rio river. We occupied a church for our quartermaster's headquarters on the south side of the river. Immediately after Gen. Scott's arrival preparations were made for the attack on Cerro Gordo. When I left my company to become a clerk in the quartermaster's office it was with the promise on my part that I should return to the company, if I was ever near them when they were about to engage in a conflict.

"Just when the attack on Cerro Gordo was to begin I was writing in my office and heard the long roll of the drum call and out of the window could see in a distance my regiment beginning to move. I had always carried my rifle and other accoutrements with me and I hastily got these together and found myself fully equipped save for a haversack which Capt. Allen provided for me. He was standing at the door when I came through and told him that I was starting to rejoin my company and he urged me not to go, that there was no use getting into that particular conflict, but I told him of my promise and that I would be branded as a coward if I didn't go for the members of my company knew of my promise and that I was near at hand. I was not long in getting near my troops and it is a pleasant memory to me today to recollect that Col. Barker proposed to the men 'Three Cheers for King.'

Engaged Mexican Lancers.
"In the attack on Cerro Gordo,
Gen. Shields commanded the brigade

To the Voters of Morgan County

The special election to choose Judge Owen P. Thompson's successor as Circuit Judge will be held Tuesday, April 28.

The successful candidate at this election will be the presiding judge of the Morgan County Circuit Court.

It is important to this county that he be a man in every way qualified to perform the duties of this high office and one who will give to the court business of this county the time and attention which our large court docket requires.

Every voter of Morgan County should therefore go to the polls next Tuesday and vote.

Hon. Norman L. Jones, of Carrollton, the Democratic nominee is entitled to the support of Morgan County voters. His ability and high standing as a lawyer are not questioned. The fact that at the recent primary his home county of Greene gave him a majority of over 1,700 is as strong a testimonial as could be given any man.

Sangamon and Macoupin Counties each has a resident judge. Mr. Jones' defeat would leave the four smaller counties of the circuit without a resident judge.

We believe a judge living in one of the smaller counties will give to the court business of our county more time and attention than would a judge from one of the larger counties. Mr. Jones has pledged himself to give us all the time he can in order that we may suffer as little as possible from the loss of a resident judge.

We urge the voters of Morgan County to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Norman L. Jones.

Democratic Central Committee for Morgan County.
A. D. Arnold, Chairman.
E. P. Brockhouse, Secretary.

We are authorized to publish the following statement from Judge Francis E. Baldwin, who was Mr. Jones' opponent in the primaries.

The judicial election to choose the successor of Judge Thompson will be held next Tuesday, the 28th. The Democratic nominee, Hon. Norman L. Jones is an able lawyer and will make an excellent judge. I am very desirous that he should receive a large vote in this county and I earnestly request you to vote for him, and to urge your neighbors to do likewise.

Indifference or apathy,—failure to vote—may result in the election of the Republican candidate, who lives in Springfield, thus giving Sangamon County two of the three judges in this circuit. Every Democrat in this county should vote for Mr. Jones. Please do not neglect this important duty.

Very truly yours,
F. E. BALDWIN.

WHAT IS IT?

Wood's Grain Softener
100 Bushel Size.

This device will enable you to fatten two hogs and two steers on the same amount of corn that one is commonly fed and produces a better grain. We guarantee it.

We grind up the cob with the corn, feed the hogs on syrup drawn off the corn

We mix it with ground oats or shorts, while hot. This softened corn is good feed mixed with silage. Can be seen in operation on my farm on R. R. No. 6.

STATISTICS OF SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

INCREASE IN HIGH SCHOOL DOUBLES IN SIXTEEN YEARS.

While High School Percentage Increases Number of Pupils in the Grades Decreases 262 Since 1907—Vocational Subjects Help to Keep Students in High School—Chart of Attendance.

Figures on school attendance in Jacksonville show that a larger percent of pupils from the public schools are attending school today than ever before. In fact, since 1897 it has more than doubled. Some interesting data has been compiled in the office of Supt. Gore. From the chart given it will be noted that from 1873 until 1895 there was not much change in the percentage of children going from the grades to the high school. From 1897 till 1914 the percentage more than doubled itself, going from 9.2 percent to 19.1 per cent. These figures would prove that the statement made that something should be done to hold the pupils in the local high school is erroneous. In some places the junior high school system is in power, which it is claimed in a measure solved the dropping off of students in the high school. The adoption of manual training, domestic science and commercial courses, have in a large measure been a factor in influencing the boys and girls to remain in high school four years. It will also be noted that the attendance in the high school did not begin to increase each year until about 1897. There were then 218 pupils, in contrast with the number there now, 403. Pupils who had a chance to attend high school, under the new law, which requires districts from which the pupils come, pay tuition has added several more to the total enrollment.

Another interesting fact is that in 1897 the attendance in the public schools was 2,367 and in 1914, it is 2,105, showing a falling off of 262 pupils. As against this falling off in the public schools from the period of 1897 till now, 17 years, there has been witnessed gradual increase in number attending the high school. There has been considerable movement of families in and out of the city, which is the case with every city. Since September, 1913, there have been 74 pupils who have moved out of the city. These figures have been offset somewhat by families who moved in. This figure would go to show that the families moving from the city have been those having children of the grade age. The banner year for the public school attendance was in 1907, with an enrollment of 2,429. The attendance in the public schools this year is the smallest it has been in 21 years, since 1893, when it was 2,067. It would seem from the statistics that there is a greater demand for vocational training in the preparatory schools today than ever before.

The following are the figures from 1868 till 1914:

AT SHAKESPEARE'S BIRTHPLACE.

London, April 23.—The old world town of Stratford-on-Avon, the birthplace and burial place of Shakespeare was gaily decorated today in celebration of the 350th anniversary of the birth of the immortal bard. Hundreds of pilgrims from all over the united kingdom and from other countries as well visited the town to look upon Anne Hathaway's house and other places connected with the life of Shakespeare. A throng of record breaking proportions attended the literary exercises and also witnessed the charming ceremony of decorating the poet's grave.

DEPEW HAS REACHED GOOD OLD AGE OF EIGHTY YEARS

Former Senator Celebrated Important Anniversary at His New York Home.

New York, April 23.—Chauncey M. Depew, former United States senator, lawyer, financier, railroad president, orator and past master of the art of after dinner speaking, celebrated his 80th birthday anniversary today. That the occasion was marked by the receipt of a flood of congratulations is scarcely necessary to state, for few men in America have a wider circle of friends and acquaintances than the genial ex-senator from New York. More than two weeks ago his more intimate friends, business associates and fellow club members commenced to give dinners complimentary to Mr. Depew and in recognition of his reaching the age of four score years. The ex-senator is in excellent health for a man of his years and as seasoned a banquetter as could be found anywhere in the land, but the rapid fire manner in which the complimentary dinners are being thrust upon him was rather more than he could stand, so he decided to call a halt and rest up a bit rather than incur the risk of making his 80th milestone the last of his life's journey.

The general public has been so used to associating Mr. Depew's name with after dinner speaking and the telling of humorous stories and anecdotes that the high lights in his long and busy career have been almost forgotten. Nearly fifty years ago he was admitted to the bar and soon became a leader in his profession. At the close of the civil war he was appointed attorney for the New York & Harlem Railroad company, which position he held for several years. In 1875 he was made general counsel for the New York Central & Hudson River R. R. Co., and has ever since remained identified with that company and with various other railroads affiliated with the Vanderbilt system. He was elected president of the New York Central in 1885, resigning in 1899 to become chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central, the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad companies.

Mr. Depew entered the field of politics at an early age and in 1861 was elected to the New York legislature. Two years later he led the Republican campaign in New York as candidate for secretary of state, and reversed the Democratic success of the preceding year, but declined re-nomination at the expiration of his term.

He was candidate for Lieutenant governor in 1872 on the Liberal Republican or Greeley ticket, but acted with the Republican party the next year. In 1881 he was a candidate for United States senator to succeed Thomas C. Platt, who resigned, but after a long contest he withdrew. He was tendered the senatorship in 1885 but declined the nomination owing to professional and business considerations. Finally, in 1899, he was elected to the senate to succeed Edward Murphy, Jr., and was re-elected in 1905. His term expired in 1911, when he was succeeded by James A. O'Govern.

Early in his career Mr. Depew was offered the post of minister to Japan by President Lincoln. The senate confirmed the nomination, but Mr. Depew declined to accept the honor because he was not inclined at that time to venture upon a political career. Another fact now almost forgotten is that Mr. Depew was a prominent candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1888. He served as one of the "Big Four" from New York at five of the national conventions of his party. In the convention of 1892 he presented the name of President Harrison for re-nomination.

Ever since his college days at Yale Mr. Depew has showed marked oratorical ability and particular facility as an after dinner speaker. Although his oratorical talent has been repeatedly recognized by his selection as orator upon many important occasions, it is his great ability as an after dinner speaker which has made him famous and won for him international reputation. He has been an orator on three great national occasions, the unveiling of the Statue of Liberty in this city, the centennial celebration of the inauguration of the first president of the United States and the dedication of the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago in 1892.

FRENCH-BURRILL WEDDING.

New York, April 23.—New York society turned out in full force this afternoon for the wedding of Francis Ormond French and Miss Eleanor Livingston Burrill. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Livingston Burrill, who enjoy much social prominence both in this city and at Newport. Mr. French is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French and a nephew of Mrs. French Vanderbilt. The wedding took place in the fashionable St. Bartholomew's church and was followed by a reception at the Murrill home.

VETERAN ACTORS OBSERVE DAY. Philadelphia, April 23.—Of the countless celebrations held throughout the English speaking world today in honor of the 350th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth, none perhaps was marked with more sincerity and enthusiasm than that held at the home for retired actors at Holmesburg, which was endowed by Edwin Forrest, who was one of the world's greatest Shakespearean performers. The celebration was participated in by the dozen or more veterans of the stage, who are now inmates of the home, and many of whom in their time were famous for their rendition of Shakespearean roles.

Old Maids.

By WALT MASON.

All girls should marry when they can. There's naught more useful than a man. A husband has some faults, no doubt, and yet he's good to have about; and she who doesn't get a mate will wish she had one, soon or late. That girl is off her base, who plans to have a high career, who sidesteps vows and wedding rings to follow after abstract things. I know so many ancient maids who in professions, arts or trades have tried to cut a manlike swath, and old age finds them in the broth. A loneliness, as of the tomb enshrouds the spinsters in its gloom; the jim crow honors they have won they'd sell at seven cents a ton. Their sun is sinking in the west, and they, unloved and uncared, must envy, as they bleakly roam, the girl with husband, hearth and home. Get married, then, Jimma dear; select a man who's cheap career. Select a man whose composed of wood, a man whose sound in wind and limb, then round him up and marry him. Oh, rush him to the altar rail, nor heed his protest or his wail. "This is," you'll say, when he's been won, "the best day's work I've ever done."

FRANCIS GRIERSON.

Those who were acquainted with the late Gen. B. H. Grierson know of his musical ability and the following story of his cousin, Francis Grierson, who is a musical genius, will be read with interest.

"Francis Grierson has been called by more than one noted contemporary the most romantic personality of his time. His highly individual temperament and powers take unique interest from both the remarkable career which developed them and the baffling sources of their authority. His genius remains an enigma after a lifetime passed in the strong light of cosmopolitan travel and creative activity in two arts—those of literature and musical improvisation. Though he has been only a short time in the United States after an absence of many years, his personality and ideas are already commanding the larger interest of cultured minds in all parts of this country."

"He speaks with the warrant of knowledge on the subject of travel and the value of foreign environments. This artist, seer and savant knows the world as it is known to few men of thought. He was still a youth when he began his wanderings. They first made him acquainted with America. At a time when railways were unknown there he had traveled through every state and territory west of the Mississippi. Brought to this country when six months old, he passed his childhood in a log house on the Illinois prairie. In 1858 he heard the last Lincoln, Douglas debate, and at the outbreak of the civil war was page to General Fremont in St. Louis. There he felt and absorbed all the portents of upheaval, change and rebirth which stirred in the psychic atmosphere of the Lincoln period, an atmosphere years later to be reproduced with clairvoyant truth in his 'Valley of Shadows.'"

"At twenty, having discovered in himself an unexplained power of spontaneous creation at the piano without technical knowledge of music, he went to Paris, arriving there in 1869 without money, friends, or letters of introduction. In that capital of thought and art the strangely gifted youth challenged the immediate and wonderful admiration of musicians, savants, statesmen and members of the French Academy. The elder Dumas, after hearing him play, prophesied that all doors would be open to him. Anber and David repeated the prophecy. The years that followed proved its truth. He visited every country in Europe, and was heard in the most famous continental salons and at all but one or two of the European courts. He was listened to at the palace of Gatchina by Alexander II, at Cumberland palace in Austria by representatives of four royal houses, while at Strechlen palace, Dresden, he dedicated the queen's music room by command of King Albert of Saxony."

"For two decades his experience was that of a musical prodigy whose like had never before produced the firmament of art. All who heard him testified to a profound and unusual impression. The effect of his playing was not sensuous intoxication or a fever of nerves. Its mysterious appeal lay in its power to exalt and free the spirit of his auditors. Sully Prudhomme said: 'His music has placed me on the threshold of another world.'"

"Mr. Grierson never practises. Technique, like the substance of his inspiration, comes to him at the moment of contact with the piano. His extraordinary gift is the more peculiar to himself because of the exception Nature made of him in giving him a hand that spans an octave and a half—a prodigy of compass itself."

"He was past forty before he began to write. With his first book, a little volume of pensées in French, as rare in verbal magic as in wisdom, he captured the instant approval of the most critical minds of France. Known up to that time as an improvisator and a sensitive in the arts, he achieved literary eminence overnight. 'Modern Mysticism,' in English, followed, and in their order four other volumes of essays—books almost fanatically prized by readers able to savor the finer achievements of thought and form. In his latest volume, 'The Inevitable Alliance,' he enters the domain of political prophecy. The decadence of Europe has set in, he declares, and the new era will bring with it a spiritual renaissance under the leadership of the English speaking peoples in coalition. In America Mr. Grierson sees an empire of hope."—Tudor Harris.

Allen Hughes returned to Murrayville yesterday after a pleasant visit of a day or two with Jacksonville friends.

LONG AGO IN NAPLES. (Second Paper)

Sixty years ago the St. Louis papers used to be printed in what the publishers called "blanket sheet" style. That meant they were of four page form, with possibly eight columns to the page, and proportionately long. In those days the papers used to carry sometimes as many as three or three and a half columns of steamboat announcements daily. The boats ran on the upper and lower Mississippi, the Missouri, the Illinois, the Des Moines, the Ohio, the Red, the Tennessee, the White, the Cumberland, the Arkansas, the St. Francis, other streams. The largest and best boat ran on the Mississippi, the Ohio, the Missouri and the Illinois. As the advertisements of each boat only occupied about three quarters of an inch, up and down, it can be judged how many boats were named. Down at St. Louis the levee was lined with steamers almost as far as one could see; some times they lay two and three deep, alongside each other. The Illinois had its full share of these floating palaces, and the larger ones came to Naples, even if they went no further up."

It was in part because Naples had the Great Western railroad, east to Jacksonville, Springfield and Decatur, the main towns in Central Illinois, east of that river. There was then no railroad to Danville, Quincy had its own great river.

The amount of produce that was shipped from Naples and Perry Landing, in those days was immense, and the goods that were received and freighted out on wagons, was immense. Then the passengers were many, so that altogether Naples was a very important and valuable point in the economy and history of early Illinois. The stage business of the day, with passengers, mails, a small freight was a big thing. So was hotel keeping important.

In 1851 there was a hotel facing north to the railroad, half a block east of the end of the road. It was kept by a man named Phillips, a German. While we were east that year '51, the small box was around. My uncle, Stafford Smith, of Meredosia, stopped at this Phillips house and got the disease. He had been a remarkably handsome young man, but this was the end of it.

One of the most serious disadvantages the immigrants and early settlers had to contend with, was cholera. This disease came into the west in 1832, and it was present either in epidemic, or irregular or sporadic form, until 1873. It used to be bad in St. Louis, and would follow the rivers, probably owing to the bad water. For years it was a menace to travellers, and it prevailed with more or less virulence over the west during the period stated. It was worst in St. Louis in 1872, that is compared with other places. In 1849 St. Louis had his water, a great and terrible fire at the cholera—all in that year. Those who now enjoy civilization and refined life have little idea what cost their predecessors to open the way for the enjoyments of today. The cholera was prevalent in Naples in 1837 or 1840, and it was very severe in Jacksonville in 1833. It is used to speak of the epidemic visits as "the cholera year."

A man came up the river, and to Perry, in 1853, from Ohio. He bought a farm, and was then taken acutely with the cholera. At the farm he had purchased. He soon died, and was followed by the son of the house and perhaps one or two more persons. One of the first occupations of Morris Collins, who lived last at Jacksonville, found when he came to Naples, was making coffins for those who died of the cholera. That and theague was the bane of early settlements in this region. Probably both were more or less due to bad water.

High water was one of the things which interfered with land travel into and out of Naples, and with farming on the "bottom" about there. The highest was in 1851. The "rises" of '49, '51, '58 and possibly of '68. The water marks showed on the trees along the banks of the river for years afterwards. Sometimes the ferry had to run up to McKee's creek—above Naples—then into a creek a mile or two, until high ground was reached, where people or teams could go ashore.

I think Peter D. Critzer leased and ran the ferry for years about 1850 to 1861, or later. He was the only operator of the crossing, that is in charge, when I knew it. He used to have a good sized boat with a railing around the front half or two-thirds. The stern end had a walk-around, such as threshing machines used to have, for two to four horses, following each other, tandem fashion. The boat had side wheels, and the steering was back of the horse wheel. It was rather a "sweep" than an oar. There was usually a skiff tied on behind the ferryboat, and the ferryman would often "put passengers over the river" in that. The ferryboat made good time, and could carry six to ten wagons and teams at a time. In 1854 they had a boat at Beards-town run by a horse in a treadmill, on each side of the rafter long scow, and teams drove on between the treadmills and the side wheels, I think they had them. It was slow and awkward.

In 1853, a man from New York state, the Rev. O. Parker, conducted a revival in the Presbyterian church at Naples. That church was probably established through the influence of the Collins brothers, Anson, Michael and Frederick, who built the present residence of Mrs. Henry Abbott, about 1830. They also built the steam flouring mill to be the second in this state, and had a store. They built a steamboat called the "Cold Water," to carry their produce to St. Louis. This was about the time the temperance reaction began. When the boat got down to St. Louis it raised a riot, and was not allowed to land until the owners agreed to change its name. Anson Collins died, single, at Naples, in 1835. Michael and Frederick moved to Liberty, Adams county, in 1837, and Frederick spent the last of his life in Quincy, where he was a leading man. They came to Naples in 1829, were from Litchfield, Conn.

They were a splendid family and any place was fortunate to have them as residents or business men. Reverting to hotels in Naples: Mr. John McCluskey, a fine mannered Irish gentleman, kept the hotel just below the depot for some years. He came to Jacksonville in

One time when I was very small I was down at Naples when the steamer "Time and Tide" was loading there. A man from Perry, named "Bob" took me up in his arms and on board the boat. There bought me some candy, and brought me back on shore. He has been gone this many a long year, but his kindness to a little child has never been forgotten. Another man named George W. Chapman, took me in his arms and into his confectionary store, where he gave me some cakes. He followed "Bob" long ago, but I always had a weak spot in my heart for him.

In March, 1857, early in the month, my father brought me down to Naples, where we took the steamer Tropic, Captain Stackpole, for Peoria. The river was out of its banks a good part of the way. I turned in about half past eleven, and scarcely gotten to sleep when father called me, and told me the boat was on fire, and we might have to look out for ourselves. Neither of us could swim, and it would not have helped us much if we could, as the water was freezing cold, and there were trees on both sides of the river, so the boat could not have landed, and we would have had little chance of our lives. Fortunately, the fire was soon put out. It seems that some one had been boiling linseed oil in the carpenter shop, under the cook shop. As was to be expected, the stuff boiled over, set fire to things and burned the bottom out of the cook shop. It was not a serious accident, but it lacked little of being tragic.

Among the names of boats that I recall were the "Brunette," "Ocean Wave," "Burned," "Australia," "Catact," "Post Box," "John B. Carson" and "Belle of Pike." Among the captains were Charles W. Rogers, "Cold Stackpole," Sam Rider and Watt and James Abrams. The Naples trade was a good one and there was often a regular Naples packet.

"As you come down from Perry, and are crossing 'the bottom,' nearly to Naples there was a cut in the timber, where one could see the river and depot at Naples. One time, as we came down the river, I saw a big boat, through this break in the trees, and knew it was unusual. When we got to Naples I found it was a big lower river freight boat."

In those days Edward S. Greenleaf, at that time mayor of Jacksonville, was employed at the depot. About forty years afterwards Greenleaf told me how a big boat came up there from New Orleans, loaded with railroad iron, for the Tonica & Petersburg railroad, of which War Governor Yates was the president. Greenleaf told how Yates was in a great hurry to have the iron quickly unloaded, and asked Greenleaf if he could not expedite matters. He did so, and Yates gave him $50 for his efficiency. When Greenleaf told me of this I said: "Yes, I know what boat it was. It was the John J. Roe."

"That's right," said Greenleaf, "that's what it was."

By the way, Greenleaf was railroad agent at Naples when Grant crossed his regiment over and back, and Peter D. Critzer was in charge of the ferry, and they two efficiently helped the Old Commander in getting men and stores across and on to the cars for Quincy. As Greenleaf won the fee from Yates, so he won from Grant the invitation to go with him.

Speaking of people of Naples in the 50's there are Royal Mooers, John Carver, Dr. Petrie, Mr. Buffum, Thos. Holloway, Dr. Mauck, Mr. Quinlan, P. D. and Otto Critzer, Col. Keener, Capt. Lodewick, and others, besides those named in these two papers.

In 1858 the water was over Naples so a steamboat could run in some of the streets. It was said. The occasion was noted upon for an excursion from Jacksonville, and a big crowd went down to the river.

But this is probably enough for this time.

Ensley Moore.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sensitive Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HONOLULU, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

FARMERS NOTICE

We Are Now Manufacturing Fertilizers For Soil

We have made a careful study of soil conditions and are now putting up an article which is considered the best on the market for INCREASED YIELD OF Corn or Oats. The same has the following analysis:

Bone phosphate 63.93 per cent.
Phosphoric acid 28.90 per cent.
Nitrogen ..... 2.63 per cent.
Ammonia ..... 3.97 per cent.

If you will carefully compare the analysis of our ROYAL BRAND BONE MEAL, you will find that the same is cheaper than the use of Rock phosphate or any other fertilizers which are now on the market.

It only requires from 100 to 150 pounds of our BONE MEAL to an acre of soil, depending upon the condition of the soil. This will increase your yield of corn or oats from 10 to 20 bushels to the acre for the first year.

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true, we know from the great many splendid letters written on the subject that our "Mother's Friend" is a great help to expectant mothers. They write of the wonderful relief, how it seemed to allow the muscles to expand without undue strain and what a splendid influence it was on the nervous system. Much help has "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future. Science says that an infant derives its sense and builds its character from cutaneous impressions. And a tranquil mother certainly will transmit a more healthful influence than if she is extremely nervous from undue pain. This is what a host of women believe who use "Mother's Friend" during their period of expectancy.

These points are more thoroughly explained in a little book mailed free.

"Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores and highly recommended for its timely usefulness. Its aidness and the real help it affords. Ask for it at the store and write us for the book. Bradfield Regulator Co., 511 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

The effect of this splendid external application is an expression of the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

You Breathe It.

If your head is all stuffed up from a cold or catarrh, you suffer with dull headaches and seem lacking in vitality, or are constantly sniffing and coughing, you need a remedy that will give the quickest, most effective and lasting relief possible—something that will go right to the spot, clear the head and throat and end your misery.

Surely use Hyomei—all druggists sell it. It is just a remedy, and is entirely harmless and pleasant to use—you breathe it—no stomach dosing.

The antiseptic oils of Hyomei mix with the air you breathe. Its health-giving medication immediately reaches the sore and inflamed mucous membrane—you feel better in five minutes. It is practically impossible to use Hyomei and not only be relieved but permanently benefited. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00 size.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

SHAKESPEARE'S ANNIVERSARY.

New York, April 23.—The 350th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, the world's greatest playwright, was observed with readings and recitations from his works in the public schools throughout Greater New York. Many floral offerings were deposited about the Shakespeare statue in Central park. Also in observance of the day were meetings under the auspices of numerous literary and dramatic societies together with special programs at several of the theaters.

BILLY SUNDAY CODVERTS MANY AT SCRANTON, PA.

Series of Revival Services Have Ended With Over 17,000 People Added to the Christian Forces.

Rev. W. A. Sunday has just concluded a big revival meeting at Scranton, Pa., with over 17,000 converts. During the past year Rev. Mr. Sunday has been holding revivals in Pennsylvania towns, including Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Wilkesbarre and Scranton and his record for the four cities is over 75,000 converts.

Under a date line of April 19, the Philadelphia American has the following to say of the meeting at Scranton:

"Billy Sunday, turning from Scranton tonight for new fields, left here between 17,000 and 18,000 men and women and children enlisted as new recruits against the forces of evil in one of the most remarkable and successful campaigns of the evangelist's career.

"Tomorrow, after a stop of a day at the state college, Sunday turns his face from Pennsylvania, where for nearly a year his message of thundering power has called no fewer than 75,000 in campaigns in four of the state's cities.

"Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Wilkesbarre and Scranton have heard him in that time, and only Pittsburgh, with its 26,000 converts, surpassed Scranton in the number heeding his call.

"Today there were more than 1,200 'trail hitters' in four different meetings. More than 500 gripped his hand at the close of tonight's meeting in the tabernacle. This meeting closed his seven weeks' campaign. His next one opens in Huntington, W. Va.

"Scenes which in some way rivaled the spectacular tribute to the evangelist yesterday, when more than 15,000 men walked in parade in his honor, were witnessed at the close of the meeting tonight.

"The tabernacle was packed as it never has been in the seven weeks' campaign. Every seat, every square foot of standing room, every window flanking the three walls of the tabernacle was occupied. Hundreds had camped in the big building since early morning. The audience witnessed by Sunday during the day exceeded 30,000.

"Those who had remained through the day had witnessed the stirring scenes at the afternoon meeting for men, when 1,000 raised their hands as an admission that they had quit booze since Sunday came to the city. They saw more than 300 hit the trail at the morning meeting, and a like number in the afternoon.

"Tonight they saw more than 500 edge their way through the throngs in the aisles to the platform.

"Scranton's contribution to Sunday including the collections taken to-day, totaled $22,000. It was announced tonight that the fund would be kept open until Wednesday.

IN THE LAND OF MEXICO

By A Jacksonville Traveler.

One who has not traveled in Mexico can not realize the true condition of things in that land. It is highly favored in the way of climate, soil and minerals. Almost all kinds of fruit and grain are grown there and great possibilities in those lines exist. Among other things the delicious mango, which well nigh deserves the appellation of the richest fruit that grows, is quite abundant in southern Mexico and might be produced in far greater quantities if the people only had Yankee energy and intelligence.

The Aztec, who first inhabited the country, were a very superior race of Indians and in many respects hardly deserved the name of savages. They had a definite worship, good buildings and many evidences of superior civilization. True, they were bloodthirsty in warfare and in their religious rites sacrificed hundreds of human victims. They were a sturdy race though and it was only by the use of superior arms that they were subdued by the Spaniards.

With true Spanish conduct the conquerors murdered ruthlessly and made a special effort to destroy all Aztec gods of noble blood and did almost succeed, but a few escaped and are today represented by such men as Benito Juarez, probably well nigh the greatest and best man the country ever produced. He was intelligent, progressive, tolerant, patriotic and ever anxious for the welfare of his beloved land, but unfortunately his career was early terminated by death. His full figure, life size portrait, adorns the wall of the gallery in the national building in the City of Mexico.

One great curse of Mexico is the everlasting unrest of the people and tendency to revolt and get up revolutions. It was in 1833 that Hidalgo, the patriot priest, raised the banner against Spain and from that time forward the country has witnessed a succession of revolutions until Diaz took the reins of power. He was truly a wonderful man, restoring and maintaining order, establishing a few schools where none had existed before and in many ways manifesting a disposition to better the condition of his people.

When the writer traveled through Mexico a few years since he asked some of the prominent citizens what they would do when Diaz was gone and they said they had so greatly enjoyed the tranquility that had characterized his administration they didn't intend to stand any more foolishness, but try to have one of his kind to succeed him, but they reckoned without their host, for a faction was found powerful enough to displace Diaz and banish him. It is wholly possible he was more stern than the case demanded, but at least he gave the land peace and tranquility. Life and property were comparatively safe as long as he commanded or ruled the land. At last, however, the spirit of revolt prevailed and Diaz had to go.

It is highly probable that a great part of the Mexican army do not know for what they are fighting. They are a sensational race; any smooth tongued orator can start out and secure a following with ease. The masses are densely ignorant and fight just to be fighting, without having any definite idea of the principles at stake. They like to ride horseback and pay great attention to saddle, bridle and general accoutrements. The writer has seen elegant saddles there, worth $500 each. He had on his head a hat that cost $165, and that was not the most expensive, while pants, as far as the wearer is able, are profusely ornamented with gold and all sorts of costly goods. They ride like centaurs and dash headlong over all sorts of obstacles as they rush along.

Throughout the land but few wagon roads are to be found, let alone railroads. Goods are carried on the backs of burden bearers, the patient donkey or burro playing an all important part in the work. Even in the City of Mexico not an express or delivery wagon is to be seen. Trunks of all sizes and everything else portable is carried on the backs of men, who seem capable of carrying enormous loads without breaking their backs. Vegetables are brought to the cities for miles on the backs of men and women, who seem stolid and having no ambition or aim in life.

Such a thing as hilarity or cheerfulness is hardly known, but instead a stolid indifference to all conditions. Ignorance, superstition and attendant evils prevail and sad would be the task of governing if this country felt obliged to take the reins of government down there. Like a lot of guerrillas they would swoop down on a town, do all the damage possible and then scatter like bits of quicksilver and immense would be the force that would hold them in subjection to wholesome laws and customs.

CHANCERY NOTICE.

State of Illinois, ss
Morgan County,
Circuit court of Morgan county, May term, A. D. 1914.
Bertha Collard, complainant, vs. Jesse Collard, in chancery.

To Jesse Collard:

Affidavit of non-residence of you the said Jesse Collard defendant above named, having been filed in the office of the clerk of said court of Morgan county, notice is hereby given to you, the said Jesse Collard that the complainant above named has heretofore filed her bill of complaint in said court, on the chancery side thereof, and that a summons thereupon issued out of said court, against you, the said defendant, returnable at the court house in the City of Jacksonville, in said county, on the second Monday of May next (1914), as is required by law; and that the said cause is still pending.

Now, unless you, the said Jesse Collard, shall be and appear before said Circuit Court of Morgan county on the first day of the term thereof to be held at Jacksonville in said county on the second Monday of May 1914, and plead, answer or demur to said complainant's bill of complaint, the same, and the matters and things therein charged and stated, will be taken as confessed, and a decree entered against you according to the prayer of said bill.

Dated this 9th day of April, A. D. 1914.

Eugene D. Pyatt, Clerk.

Worthington, Reeve & Green,
Complainant's solicitors.

Summer Suits Are Needed Now

The silk and moire suits we make cannot be duplicated in the city.

You Want Something Stylish

We are prepared to give you the best tailoring in the city—and can suit you in materials and price. Call and see us this week.

Royal Ladies Tailors

—Opposite Post Office—
(We do Cleaning, Dyeing, Pressing and Repairing.)

VALUE RECEIVED JUSTIFIES PRICE

Even the bargain hunter realizes that his effort to obtain full value for less than full price is in vain.

We know that when service is satisfactory the customer is glad to pay a reasonable profit. Our business is conducted on this policy. It means material of merit, honest workmanship and "Standard" guaranteed plumbing fixtures—real value supplied at cost plus a reasonable profit.

Let us submit an estimate in proof.

C. C. Schureman—Opposite Post Office

Sunkist Oranges

Now Heaviest with Juice

This is the season when California Oranges are heaviest with juice, sweetest and most beneficial.

Over ten million daily are being shipped from California and these oranges are now being offered by all dealers.

Every Sunkist Orange is glovepicked and tissue wrapped—shipped on picking day, therefore always fresh. And prices were never so low as now.

Sunkist Oranges are both good and good for you. Eat them at every meal, between meals and at bedtime. Try this for Spring Fever. Give the children this juice—this drink of natural purity.

Try Sunkist Lemons, Too

Ask for Sunkist Lemons, too. For cooking purposes or for lemonade, there are no other lemons like them—highly flavored, juicy, practically seedless.

These are the best looking and the best lemons—the kind that look most appetizing, sliced or quartered, to serve with fish and meats.

Try Sunkist Lemon juice in place of vinegar in makingsalad dressing or in any other dish.

These lemons are grown, picked and shipped with the same care used in the production and handling of Sunkist Oranges. Your grocer has them or can get them at once.

Beautiful Rogers Silverware

Save the wrappers from Sunkist Oranges and Lemons. 12 wrappers from either, with 12 cents, entitle you to any of these three pieces of guaranteed Rogers silver. 36 wrappers and 36 cents entitle you to all three. 24 other beautiful premiums. Send the coupon.

California Fruit Growers Exchange
139 N. Clark St., Chicago

Mail us this coupon and we will send you our complimentary 40-page recipe book, showing over 110 ways of using Sunkist Oranges and Lemons. You will also receive our illustrated premium book which tells you how to trade Sunkist wrappers for beautiful table silver. Send this coupon or call at the above address.

SECY. REDFIELD MAKES PROSPERITY SPEECH

ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF INDUSTRIAL CLUB IN CHICAGO.

Declares New Tariff Has Not Brought the Rush of Foreign Imports Which Was Threatened.—Hopes Freight Rates Case Will Soon Be Decided.

Chicago, Ill., April 23.—Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, made a prosperity speech here tonight before the Industrial Club. He took for his topic "A Sense of Proportion" and contended that any lessening of business activities at the present time was not peculiar to the United States alone, that a moderate and general decline of the cost of living has been noted all over the world and that the new tariff law had not brought the rush of foreign imports which was threatened. Mr. Redfield referred to the railroad rate situation and expressed the hope that the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision on the application of the Eastern railroads for freight rate advances would soon be decided.

"It is respectfully submitted for your consideration that the following statements are correct," said he.

"1. The adoption of the present fiscal policy of the nation has not been followed by the rush of foreign imports which was threatened.

"2. On the authority of experienced and unprejudiced observers of different nations there has been progressing for some months, and is now in progress, a moderate and quite general decline in prices to a lower level, a part of a movement of a similar character going on throughout the world.

"3. A general depression in business has long existed in many countries throughout the commercial world.

"The public has through press and platform these many years demanded a reduction in the cost of living. That reduction is now going on. Is it possible it should come without readjustments which however healthful are temporarily difficult? Are business booms born out of a falling market?

"If America is in despair I do not know it. There are difficulties here. No man is born into the world without pain; and the evolution from higher to lower prices, from highly centralized industry into a more normal and democratic type, will not be accomplished without difficulty; but to treat the process as if it were either dangerous or disastrous is like mourning because a man child is born into the world. Let us look more closely into the business facts.

"Let us as we view the business situation neither minimize nor magnify it, neither localize it nor generalize it. Let us look at the facts as they are, not in their narrow and immediate and parochial significance.

California is not in distress with her abundant crops. Kansas knows no weakness in the presence of her wheat. New York with nearly eighteen hundred millions in her savings banks alone faces no immediate necessity. We are free from the terrors of an inflexible currency. We are becoming free from those who mistakenly thought it would be long profitable to monopolize. We are readjusting ourselves upon an altered economic basis. Speculation is not rife. Our merchants are not overstocked. Our competing power was never as strong as now. Such dullness as there was, has been in part the bringer of a higher efficiency into our factories.

"Ah! but one says, 'the fear of business legislation.' I have already hinted at the fact that this legislation if it had been desired to have it hasty or rash might well have been enacted long ago. Almost immediately after the President's message upon the subject, certain measures were introduced into both Houses. Three months have gone. They have been spent in discussion. Business men have been given an opportunity to state their views. Time has been taken to hear the country. Furthermore, it will I am sure be admitted to be just that a Congress shall be judged by its fruits, and the present one has produced several great legislative enactments.

"But I confess to amusement at learning in some quarters that business does not demand further legislation, for therein business shows that sense of detachment from the general weal which has been its bane. It may well be that the public demands that which business does not seek. The point is both that business must remember that its voice is not the only one that is to be heard.

"But it is true that our whole outlook is affected by the absence from our markets of our largest purchasers and our largest employers. I say absence, meaning that our railroad companies are sharply economizing because, as they claim, their revenues in relation to their necessary expenditures are such that they can not do otherwise. I shall not enter upon a discussion of the question now pending before a tribunal which is abundantly competent to deal with them and no just inference may be drawn from what I shall say as to the merits of those questions. I think I am justified as a business man in saying that I earnestly hope the decision will be reached with the least possible delay. It is not too much to say that the prosperity of the nation is bound up in and intertwined with the prosperity of its railway system. The railway, if I interpret public opinion correctly, must be a railway and little if anything else. It is not, for example, to be the pivot on which financial operations turn, profitable indeed to those who turn them, but not causing the railway to serve the people better. It must in fairness be admitted that the railway men of today are suffering from the sins of the fathers which are being visited upon the children to the third and fourth generations.

"The process of democratization is still going on. The 'Big fellows' are ceasing to own the railways and the 'little fellows' day by day are coming to take their place.

"I am inclined to think that when the matter shall have been wrought out to its full analysis with ample lapse of time the statements of Mr. Brandeis, for which he has been so much ridiculed, may not prove to have been so far wrong, and I do not recall in this connection that he said how soon the suggested result was to be reached.

"I remember very well that the leading advocate of so-called scientific management told men that to put a modern industry of large size upon the most scientific basis would mean five years of continuous work, and I suspect at least this time is necessary for the same work upon a great railway.

"Meanwhile justice and common sense require any truthful man to concede that when the worst is respecting our railway managers' it is none the less true that they have so wrought as to give America the lowest freight rates in the world.

"I hope, and think I may say believe, that the day of opposition is giving way to the day of comprehension. I do not mean that law is to be less strong or the insistence upon obedience to law less firm, but that there is coming into the minds of all a greater sense of their essential relationship, and that we shall turn over long from the industrial and transportation contests which have so engrossed us to other questions of equal or greater importance, and shall come to wonder ere many years pass that we did not sooner see how much easier, better, and more profitable it was to work together with and for one another."

ENTER SUICIDE PACT.

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—As a result of jealousy, Harry Larkin, wire chief of the Inter-State Telephone company and Mrs. Mary Careman, with whom he had been living, it is alleged, for some months, entered a suicide pact today. In their room in a local hotel, Mrs. Careman was found dead with a bullet through her heart. Larkin is dying with a bullet in his head.

FUNERAL OF MRS. B. H. MERRILL THURSDAY IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Services Are Held at Late Residence on West College Avenue in Charge of Dr. Post.

Funeral services for Mrs. Benson H. Merrill, held at the late residence on West College avenue Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, were attended by a wide circle of friends.

Before the services by Dr. R. O. Post, pastor of the deceased, Mrs. Julia Merrill, accompanied by Mrs. Anton Graef, sang "Just For Today" and at the conclusion of the service sang "Silent." Dr. Post read the 23 psalm and portions of the 14th chapter of John and the 22nd chapter of Revelation. He said in part:

"We pause for a little while today before committing the body of our loved one to the last resting place in God's half acre to pay loving tribute to her memory. No sting is here today; no doubt or darkness hangs over the scene and no bitterness is to be found for all is peace and rest. I shall not give an extended story of her life for it is not called for but shall content to pay a loving tribute to her memory. She loved her dear ones; she was devoted to duty, patient in privation and hardship and even when suffering pain she smiled through her tears.

"She well demonstrated that there is something higher than this life; she was devoted to those whom she held dear and like Mary and Martha her faith in the Sovereign Lord was unbounded and she tried to serve Him ever and now she has gone to be with Him. She loved her church, home and the Master and He who went to prepare a place for her has now received her into everlasting mansions of rest and happy with the redeemed in glory she awaits the coming of those who linger here yet a while."

The many beautiful flowers were cared for by Mrs. Anton Graef, Miss Alice Green and Miss Margaret Kunkle.

Interment was made in Diamond Grove cemetery and the bearers were J. P. Lippincott, A. C. Rice, J. Frank Strawn, Judge M. T. Layman, A. D. Fairbank and M. L. Robinson.

MORTUARY

Connoran.
Squire John M. Connoran has received word of the death of his sister's husband, James Connoran of Keokuk. The deceased was over 82 years of age and had been ill for some time.

Stockton.
Mrs. Keziah Stockton passed away at her home four miles east of Litchfield Thursday afternoon at 4:40 o'clock. She had been ill for 3 months. Mrs. Stockton was over eighty years of age and has lived in Morgan county practically all her life. She spent her years in devotion to duty and her Christian character and upright life won from everyone respect and loving consideration.

Mrs. Stockton's maiden name was Cox. Her husband, Allen Stockton, preceded her in death by thirty years and at the time of her own death she resided upon the farm to which she removed when she was married.

The deceased leaves four daughters, two sons and one sister. She had also one step-son and two step-daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Frances Miller of Scott's Bluff, Neb., Mrs. George Holmes, Kirksville, Mo.; Mrs. Wycliff Lindsey, Litchfield, and Mrs. Douglas Smith, this city. Her sons are Morgan of New Berlin and Samuel Stockton of Chicago and the step-son, Joseph Stockton, of Virginia. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Merica, the step-daughters, reside in Nebraska and Mrs. Ruth Rathbun, her sister, lives in Dixon, Ill. Mrs. Stockton left also 9 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. All the children and most of the grandchildren were with the deceased at the time of her demise.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Griffin.

Relatives in the city received a message Thursday announcing the death of Jesse J. Griffin, who passed away Thursday morning at 6:30 o'clock in St. Louis. Mr. Griffin left Jacksonville Wednesday for Hot Springs, Ark., for his health. The deceased was 50 years of age and was in the employ of the Jenkinson-Bode Company. He is survived by his wife and three daughters in this city, and two sons in St. Louis.

J. L. Tayman and James P. Ball, father-in-law of the deceased, went to St. Louis Thursday afternoon and will return today with the remains.

French.

Mrs. E. W. French, mother of Rev. Howard D. French of this city, died at her late home in Chicago Thursday morning. Rev. and Mrs. French have been in Chicago several days.

Stewart.

Relatives in the city received word Thursday announcing the death of Mrs. Mary Stewart, who passed away Monday. Mrs. Stewart was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Riggs and was born and reared in the Riggs neighborhood in Scott county. She was the widow of Dr. Newton Stewart. The remains are expected to arrive in the city Sunday and will be taken to the Gillham undertaking establishment.

FUNERALS

Howard.
Funeral services for Mrs. Alex Howard were held Thursday afternoon at the residence, 304 South Main street, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. P. A. McCarty, assisted by Rev. G. W. Flagg, pastor of Centenary M. E. church. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Rapp. Rev. Mr. McCarty and Mrs. Albert Farrow and the flowers were cared for by Mrs. Sarah Stringham and Mrs. E. G. Shoemaker.

Interment was made in Jacksonville cemetery and the bearers were James F. Harvey, James Samples, E. G. Laboyteaux, Robert Lorton, Geo. Fall and William Graubner.

J. B. C. PICNIC AT PARK.

A ball game between the stenotype students and bookkeeping students of Brown's Business College was a feature of the J. B. C. picnic Thursday afternoon at Nichols park. The stenos defeated the bookkeepers 7 to 4.

About sixty young people left the square at 3 o'clock accompanied by Principal W. C. Springgate and the members of the faculty. At the close of the game a picnic supper was served. The game was umpired by John Groves and Emmett Miller and the batteries were Wallace and Butler for the stenos and Curtis and Geer for the bookkeepers' team.

EAGLES TO PLAY

FRANKLIN SUNDAY
Franklin will again play the opening game of the season here with the Eagles next Sunday. The Franklin nine was the only club that defeated the Eagles here last season. They have a strong team this year, and Franklin expects to send a large number of boosters.

TO ATTEND BANKERS' COUNCIL.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crabtree will leave today for Chicago and from there will go to Hot Springs, Va., where Mr. Crabtree will attend the executive council meeting of the American Bankers' association. The delegates will make the trip in a special train from Chicago.

COM. NEWMAN BETTER.

Commissioner William Newman, who has been ill at his home on East State street, with intestinal trouble, was a little better yesterday, although he will be confined to his bed for several days.

A Very Hearty Reception

Although our Delicatessen department is but three days old it is not too early to mention with what a hearty response the announcement of the department went. We have found that there are many Jacksonville people who long wished that there was some place here where they could buy a salad, sliced roast beef, and tongue, pies or cakes, products just like those of a home kitchen.

We are using the very best materials in all of our cookery, are selling in quantities of any size and are asking only such prices as will give us a fair margin of profit. Again, we say, whether you wish to buy or not come in and see our kitchen and our display cases.

TROOPS TO VERA CRUZ; EMBARGO RESTORED; MORE TROOPS TO BORDER

President Wilson told callers he was confident. Charge O'Shaughnessy would get to Vera Cruz safely. The latest word from him said he would leave tonight or tomorrow. The situation in Mexico City is extremely delicate, according to private advices received here. Fears of mob violence and demonstrations against Americans are felt by the Washington government and it is possible no further step likely further to incite Mexican populace or precipitate American outbreaks will be undertaken. The president talked with his callers. He referred to the crisis as a very serious one and thought it was his duty, he said, to confine his announcements to facts, reserving information about contemplated steps until plans matured.

Only Acts of Reprisals.

Mr. Wilson does not regard the present situation as a state of war and holds that so far as his authority is concerned only acts of reprisals have been undertaken. He was not yet ready to announce whether he would go before congress soon for an extension of his authority. One of the president's callers mentioned to him the statement issued from Tokio of the intention of Japan to remain neutral during any eventuality.

Mr. Wilson had not read it but spoke of his assumption that all powers would remain neutral, no matter what steps were taken by the United States. No notification had gone to the powers of contemplated plans of the American government, communications thus far having been confined to accomplished facts as they have developed. The president made it clear that no blockade had been declared and that before such a step would be taken foreign governments would be given due notice.

Make No Forward Movement.

He pointed out that for the present the United States had confined itself solely to operations in the vicinity of Vera Cruz and that with the end of the fighting there no forward movement had been made. He said he did not know whether Huerta proposed a declaration of war or what succeeding moves the Huerta government planned. An attack in Vera Cruz by General Maas and reinforcements, which he is reported to be getting from Puebla would not be unexpected and the sailing of the army transports from Galveston is designed to help the marines and bluejackets should they advance 27 miles from the city to obtain possession of a valuable railroad bridge which would be important in a campaign on Mexico City. The American warships can protect the land forces with their guns a distance of about seven miles inland.

It will take the army transports, from two and a half to three days to get to Vera Cruz from Galveston. Their artillery would be of invaluable assistance in quelling an attack on Vera Cruz and protecting the advancing infantry moving to get possession of the twenty-seven miles of railroad which is considered of such strategic importance. Admiral Badger has been directed to use his discretion in allowing civil officers at Vera Cruz who were duly elected by the people but deposed by Huerta to assume their authority and to permit the Mexican flag to be displayed from school houses and public buildings except those actually occupied by the United States government. There are but two Brazilian consular officers in Mexico, one a consul, in Mexico City and the other, a vice-consul in Vera Cruz.

When Charge O'Shaughnessy turns the embassy in Mexico City over to the Brazilian minister it is assumed that the office staff will immediately depart for the United States. The clerical force at present serving under Mr. O'Shaughnessy consists of James Edward McKinnis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Parker, Louis D. Antine and Henry Rice, all Americans.

PUBLISHERS ELECT.

New York, April 23.—At the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association today the following officers were elected: President, Herbert L. Bridgeman of the Brooklyn Standard Union; Vice-president, Hopewell L. Rogers, Chicago Daily News; secretary, John Stewart Bryan, the Richmond, Va., News Leader; treasurer, Edward Payson Call, of the New York Journal of Commerce.

INCREASES SUSPENDED.

Washington, April 23.—Increases in the freight rates on wheat of five cents and on corn of four cents a hundred pounds, proposed by the Wabash railroad on shipments from Omaha and South Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Iowa, to points in Illinois or beyond today were suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission until August 23rd, pending investigation.
